Will Build Addition to Present Building And Will Make All Kinds of Lamp Glasses—Work Started

Owing to the growing demand throughout the west for lamp glasses of various kinds, the Dominion Glass plant here has decided to go in for the manufacture of that class of goods.

As the present building is now fully occupied it is the intention to add another wing to the present plant. Already the preliminary work has been started on this new building and it is the intention to rush it ahead to completion as soon as the weather permits.

The addition will be of solid brick and will be a two-story building. The substantial appearance of the present building. When it is completed and the necessary machinery installed, not only will the plant be able to handle the larger glass bottles up to the large soda bottles and sealers. One furnace is also being turned out lantern globes. At present this plant is one of the busiest industries in the west and the present prospects are that they will have an exceptionally busy season.

The excavation for the new addition was started this week and all the material necessary is on hand, but owing to the very cold weather, operations have been delayed. As soon as the weather moderates sufficiently this will be resumed and it is expected that with fine weather the new portion should be in operation in two or three weeks, as very little new machinery is necessary for this purpose.

The Scottish Poet on the Germans

The opinion of Burns, the famous Scottish poet, on the Germans, although expressed a hundred years ago, is of more than ordinary interest at the present time and ought to be made known, as it throws a little light upon the Teutonic character, in force but expressive language. His condemnation is, therefore, all the more forcible and pungent.

In a letter written to Dr. McGill of Ayr, he admits his incompetence to express his detestation, and then goes on to say, "I know not how to express my indignation by poetical language, but I am sure that I am not alone in my feeling. Good God, sir, to such a shoddy humbug is the peck of a sparrow, and satire the puggon of a school boy."

That is pretty strong language, but nothing compared to what follows. He proceeds, "Creation-disgracing conceits such as they. God only can mend and the devil only can punish. In the uncomprehending way of Caligula, I wish they all had but one neck, I feel impotent as a child to the order of my wishes. O! for a withering curse to blast the Germans of their wicked machinations. O! for a furious tempest to sweep the world from the face of Tartarus to sweep the spreading crop of their villainous continuance to the lowest hell!"

It would be difficult for any modern writer to surpass that bit of invective, and how exactly the world might echo the curse pronounced by Burns at the present time.

It was reported around town this week that W. Forbes, formerly of Redcliff, was mentioned among the killed at the front. This, however, we are glad to say, is not true, as friends have received from him by word here since the time he was supposed to have been killed. At the time of writing he was in good health.
